In this historic agreement, both parties agree to improve health equity for patients and workers by embedding inclusive practices into training, hiring, promotions and unit-based team projects.

This toolkit is for members of unit-based teams and those who support their work across the organization.

EXPLORE EQUITY, INCLUSION AND DIVERSITY

Why Equity, Inclusion and Diversity Matter

Achieving our mission can only be accomplished by fully including, supporting and engaging diverse backgrounds and different ways of thinking, all focused on the health and well-being of our workforce, so workers are able to do their best for the people we serve.

KP health plan members represent more than 260 ethnicities speaking more than 100 languages. The KP workforce, most of whom are also members, reflects the diversity of our membership, with more than 69% being people of color.

We stand committed to racial justice, equity, and inclusion for all. Through our shared responsibility, we will build a more equitable future for every life we touch: our workers, patients, members, and the diverse communities we serve.

—KAISER PERMANENTE AND THE ALLIANCE OF HEALTH CARE UNIONS

Words Matter

Get up to speed with these key terms and phrases.

Belonging is the feeling of security and support when there is a sense of acceptance, inclusion and identity for a member of a certain group.

Bias happens when humans use mental shortcuts to process the reality around us. It occurs automatically, without our conscious intent, and below our cognitive awareness.

Diversity is the wide range of differences and similarities that exist among people and which make each of us unique. Diversity extends beyond race and ethnicity. It encompasses our gender, sexual orientation, religion, and other aspects of who we are and how we live.

Equality is evenly distributed access to resources and opportunity necessary for a safe and healthy life; uniform distribution of access to ensure fairness.

Equity is the ideal of fairness and justice. Our Equity Principles serve as guidelines for how we treat one another, reflecting our mission. (KP Intranet)

Health equity means everyone can reach their best health and thrive, free of any biases and systemic barriers. Below is another way to look at equity, which is not the same as equality.

Health disparities adversely affect groups of people who have systematically experienced greater obstacles to health based on their racial or ethnic group; religion; socioeconomic status; gender; age; mental health; cognitive, sensory or physical disability; sexual orientation or gender identity; geographic location; or other characteristics historically linked to discrimination or exclusion.

Inclusion fuels well-being and is the full engagement of every individual's diversity of backgrounds, perspectives and different ways of thinking. Inclusive and psychologically safe work environments are necessary so our workforce can be at its best for patients and members.

What is an Equity Lens?

Looking at the world through an Equity Lens is like putting on glasses: it helps us see things from new or different perspectives. It empowers us to be open and curious, and to ask questions that can lead to the full inclusion and participation of, and a sense of belonging by, all employees, members and patients.

With this lens, we can better recognize and address systemic inequalities, and foster just and equitable workplaces and communities.

One way to do this is using an Equity Lens when creating unit-based team projects. By actively considering the needs and experiences of all workers, clinicians and members, we can offer more inclusive and supportive care for everyone.

QUESTIONS TO CONSIDER

Use these questions to apply an Equity Lens to your next unit-based team project. For more thought-provoking questions, see the SMARTIE goals worksheet on pages 14–15.

- » How can I put Equity Principles into action?
- » As a team, what problem are we trying to solve and why?
- » Ask about inclusion. Who is at the table?
- » Who or what is informing our thinking on this issue?
- » Are we approaching this in partnership?
- » What data do we need to support this work?
- » Are the communities impacted clearly stated in our project?
- » How will they benefit?
- » How will our test of change address the root cause of inequity?
- » How can we share this work?

Get Ready, Set, Go!

Apply the Equity Lens to your everyday work. Here's how to get started:

- » Take part in the activities here and on the following page to learn how to think and behave more inclusively, and recognize and eliminate systemic racism in our actions, policies and processes. These inclusive behaviors are core to the culture we need to successfully achieve our mission and create a work environment where everyone feels they matter, they are valued and they are treated fairly.
- » Actively participate in your unit-based team. If you're a frontline worker, speak up to share your ideas and concerns. If you're a manager, actively listen and encourage feedback. Use huddles, meetings and rounding conversations as forums for employee voices to be heard.
- » Engage in well-being activities that respect and support the diverse needs, preferences and identities of your team members.
- » Help foster an inclusive environment by working collaboratively and using an interdisciplinary approach to do the following:
  - › provide a wider range of perspectives and experiences, which can lead to better understanding between patients and providers, and thus better outcomes
  - › deliver care in multiple languages
  - › improve our knowledge about racial and gender biases
  - › innovate to address social determinants
  - › focus on patient-centered care, service, and quality

CHOOSE THE RIGHT TOOLS

SMARTIE Goal Worksheet

Get your UBT project off to a successful start.

Goals are a concrete way to drive results, but without an explicit equity and inclusion component, goals won't produce better outcomes for historically excluded communities, address disparities or support belonging. Introducing SMARTIE goals! SMARTIE stands for:

SPECIFIC	Be clear about what you want to improve. Define your scope of work.
MEASURABLE	How will you track improvements? If you don't have baseline numbers, the first thing you need to do is establish them. Be sure to record your baseline and target numbers.
ATTAINABLE	What is your current performance? Do you really think you can attain the goal in the time frame stated? Be ambitious, but make the goal achievable.
REALISTIC	Is this something the team can directly affect? Does it have a bearing on the main work of the department?
TIME-BOUND	Be sure to include when the improvement will be made by.

By incorporating equity and inclusion into your SMART goals, you can make sure your team's commitment to racial equity and inclusion is anchored by tangible and actionable steps.

INCLUSIVE	How are team members putting the Equity Principles into action? Who is the team collaborating with? Who is missing? Are the people most impacted meaningfully included in discussions and decisions? (KP Intranet)
EQUITABLE	What are the systemic barriers experienced by people in your workplace or by people you serve? What policies or practices contribute to those barriers? What successful practices can the team adopt and share?

SMARTIE Goal Example

SPECIFIC, MEASURABLE and TIME-BOUND	We will increase our Real Time Feedback rating at our MOB/department from 3.8 stars to 4.2 stars by the end of this year.
ATTAINABLE and REALISTIC	We will achieve our goal by identifying and acting upon improvement opportunities from “voice of the customer” surveys from members and patients.
INCLUSIVE and EQUITABLE	We can incorporate equity and inclusion into our goal by: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>» ensuring we get direct input from members who reflect the demographic make-up of our MOB/department membership</li> <li>» offering the survey across different languages, times of day and modalities</li> <li>» including all team members in the design of solutions so that changes are understood, agreed upon and don't unfairly impact certain team members</li> </ul>

START WRITING YOUR SMARTIE GOAL

START WRITING YOUR SMARTIE GOALS

Before you start your project, answer the following questions about Equity and Inclusion.

Write your answers in the space below:

- » What are we thinking of doing and why? Identify personal and organizational value and priorities.

LAUNCH YOUR UBT PROJECT

Use UBT Tracker

Once your team has a project idea, record your progress and collect data using UBT Tracker. Follow these 3 easy tips to accurately describe your project, identify tests of change and share results with other teams.

1. Set aside time during your regular UBT meetings to input your project. Then ensure you make updating UBT Tracker a part of your meeting agenda.

2. Enter accurate descriptions and other RIM information to show progress on your SMART goals and processes. Don't forget to describe your findings so other teams can replicate your results.

3. Update. Update. Update! Keep your team's projects in UBT Tracker up to date. Stay on top of the information in Project Details and Test of Change, and don't forget to enter the date of your update.

Pro Tip: Make sure all your team members are listed. Are you working with a physician or dentist? Add them, too. Don't forget you're all in a UBT!

SHARE AND ADOPT SUCCESSFUL PRACTICES

Use these tips to sustain and spread effective unit-based team practices.

How Teams Can Spread Successes

- » Shout from the rooftops. Share your success at strategically chosen meetings, UBT summits or social channels such as Viva Engage (formerly Yammer).
- » Say specifically that you welcome having others copy your successful practices.
- » Boil down and spell out the factors that helped your project be successful, so that other teams can focus on those.
- » Choose a project that has a clear health equity, inclusion and diversity goal, such as lowering blood pressure in the African American community, increasing team awareness of unconscious bias by taking Belong@KP, or using cultural competency in dietary plans. (KP Intranet)
- » Be a pollinator. Are you in a role where you get to interact with lots of different departments, facilities or regions? Be the person who brings ideas to others.
- » Nominate your team or another team for the R.J. Erickson Award! Each fall, the R.J. Erickson Awards recognize individuals and groups for outstanding contributions to equity, inclusion and diversity at Kaiser Permanente. At the annual National Equity, Inclusion, and Diversity conference, the winners are presented their awards and thanked for their contributions. (KP Intranet)

How Leaders Can Bolster Successful Practices

- » Be sure your facility or region has a structure and process related to spread.
- » Measure the impact of attempts at spreading success. Does the same process have a different result in a different setting?
